3. Rights and Obligations of Membership

3.1 Rights of Membership

Full members have the right to make proposals at constitutional meetings, to be elected to the Executive Committee, and to have THREE votes in the General Assembly. A full member that is not present at a General Assembly may give their proxy (3 votes) to another professional network that is a full member of ASSITEJ.

This proxy must be given in writing and communicated to the Secretary-General.

A centre or network with full membership may have only one representative on the Executive Committee. Where a centre and a network nominate candidates from the same country, the candidate of the national centre takes preference and may stand for election.

Only one person from any country may be proposed for election to the Executive Committee. This means that should a professional network propose a candidate who happens to be from a country that is also putting forward a candidate for the national centre, the candidate of the national centre will take precedence, and the professional network will need to suggest another candidate.

Corresponding members have the right to make proposals at constitutional meetings and to have ONE vote in the General Assembly. Corresponding members do not have the right to be elected to the Executive Committee. A corresponding member that is not present at a General Assembly may give their proxy (1 vote) to another professional network that is either a full or corresponding member of ASSITEJ. This proxy must be given in writing and communicated to the Secretary-General.

3.2 Obligations of Membership

All members have the following obligations:

to work to achieve the aims defined by the Association,

Professional networks should be actively engaged in activities, projects or collaborations which reflect the aims of the Association.

Professional networks should prioritise aims according to an analysis of the specific need, interest, theme or idea that is their raison d'etre. The aims of the Association (when applied to professional networks) include:

- To work for the rights of children and young people to artistic experiences especially designed and created for them across the world.
- To work for the recognition and acknowledgement of theatre for children and young people across the world.
- To work for improvement of the conditions of theatre for children and young people.
- To improve the common knowledge of theatre for children and young people, thus drawing the attention of international and national authorities to the importance of taking children and young people and the artistic work created for them seriously.
- To give people working with theatre for children and young people the opportunity to learn about the work of colleagues from other countries and cultures, thus enabling them to enrich theatre for children and young people in their own contexts.
- To form and sustain a professional network which functions in accordance with the mission, constitution and policies of the Association. This network shall unite theatres, organizations, and persons interested in the particular focus, need, interest or theme identified by the network.

	To participate in international artistic networks to explore different aspects of artistic work for children and young people, the field of theatre for children and young people who share that particular specialisation, interest, need or idea. ASSITEJ may support the building of the network by making an international call for participation.

An international meeting is held to bring together these companies, organisations and persons at an event of significance for the network. Already existing companies, institutions and organisations of relevance to the field should be included in the network wherever possible. At this meeting, a board of representatives for the professional network should be elected democratically. Professional networks may be formally constituted as associations, where this is possible.

Once the board/steering committee of the professional network has been established and membership of the network has reached a point considered sufficiently representative of the field to meet the minimum requirements of the ASSITEJ constitution, an application form for membership of ASSITEJ should be completed.

This application form is submitted to the Executive Committee and the request is discussed at one of the physical meetings of the EC, or via email.

If the request is granted, then the professional network will be notified by the Secretary General, and the Treasurer will send an invoice requesting payment of membership fees for the first year. Once these fees have been received into the ASSITEJ account, the membership is considered active.

If the request is rejected, reasons for rejection will be given by the Secretary General, and the network will be given the opportunity to reapply once conditions for membership have been met.

4.2 Resignation from membership

Any member that wishes to resign from the Association should inform the Secretary General in writing. The resignation will take effect from 1st January in the following year.

We urge members to engage with the Secretary General about their problems before taking the step to resign from the Association. When resigning from the Association, professional networks should give reasons for their resignation, so that the Association may have a stronger sense of what its membership needs and wants.

4.3 Suspension or Expulsion from membership

The Executive Committee may decide, by a majority of two-thirds, on the suspension, or expulsion of any member whose work conflicts with the fundamental aims of this Association, or who has failed several times in one of the obligations mentioned in Article 6.4. Any centre which has been suspended, or expelled loses the right to use the acronym "ASSITEJ".

Suspension of membership implies that the member will cease to be acknowledged as a member of ASSITEJ until such time as certain criteria have been met. Suspension is usually for a set period, say 6 months, in which a professional network is asked to reorganise themselves to meet their constitutional obligations or to deal with other issues identified as problematic by the Executive Committee. Expulsion implies that the member will no longer be considered part of the association. Expulsion is usually a last resort after a period of communication with the network. Reasons for expulsion include but are not limited to: non-payment of fees for three or more years; non-communication and non-responsiveness; exclusivity, lack of representation or gate-keeping activity; refusal to adhere to the constitution of ASSITEJ; bringing ASSITEJ into disrepute.

Any suspended, or expelled member may appeal to the next General Assembly.

Notice of the appeal must be given in writing to the Secretary-General so as to be included in the Agenda for the General Assembly. The General Assembly will hear both the appeal and the reasons of the Executive Committee for the decision. They may overturn the decision of the Executive Committee by a majority vote.
